Auctioneer Joins Foothills Auction Mart Staff

E. F. (Bert) Robinson, president of Foothills Livestock Pool (1967) Ltd., announced today the appointment of Johnny Shields as full-time auctioneer and member of the firm.

A native Albertan and Chinook, Alta., resident since 1951, Mr. Shields has conducted successful auction sales for the past seven years. During this time he auctioned the majority of farm sales conducted within a 75-mile radius of Chinook and many in Western Saskatchewan in addition to auctioneering at two livestock markets.

Mrs. Merna Shields serves as clerk at her husband's farm sales, making a unique husband-wife team. A stenographer prior to marriage, Mrs. Shields will be employed in the auction mart Office. The Shields recently moved to High River with their four children and have taken residence on the auction mart site.

The auction mart has enjoyed brisk selling in recent weeks with large volumes being handled. It has been reported that livestock Pool (1967) Ltd., have exceeded prices at the Foothills Livestock other competitive auction markets.

Mr. Robinson has announced a stock cow sale to be held on Dec. 5, with a large entry expected. The Calgary and District Hereford Club will be conducting a bull sale at the auction market on Dec. 2.

Dog's Life All Fun - Marganna Kennels

Margaret Hanna is not, as some folks jokingly remark, going to the dogs. Rather, the owner of Marganna Kennels, just north of Vulcan, is going WITH her dogs, about 140 of them, depending on the most recent litter and the last sale.

To categorize this lady with the little old grandmother with 24 cats around the cottage is to dispute something that has already been proven. This grandmother has her faculties and the fact that she got rid of her cattle this summer to devote more time to her kennel, indicates that the financial returns can be something on the generous side.

At the farm located 2½ miles west of the former Red Cross school, 8 miles north of Vulcan, Mrs. Hanna and her girls Dora, Jane and Joan administer to a wide variety of purebred stock, the majority of which are housed in a new kennel, built this summer. This kennel is 12 feet by 40 feet in size with six-foot long fenced outside runs and 24 pens in all. The floors are cement, fresh papers are always down for the dogs, the building is air conditioned and heated with propane. At present the floors are hosed down but water installation will be the next project. Inside the building there is practically no odor and this applies to the converted trailer and bunk houses in which more dogs are raised.

The reputation of Marganna Kennels is not only growing locally but on a national scale as well. Dogs bred at the kennels have gone to points from Nova Scotia to Vancouver and in many cases pups are sold before they are even born.

Not only has the kennels a reputation for excellent breeding but it is noted throughout Western Canada for its cleanliness, and the care given the dogs. It has been said there are some basement or backyard kennels in cities where dogs are brought to the prospective buyer to avoid revealing conditions under which they are kept. At Marganna Kennels you are free to tour the complete layout and about the only dog that may be hidden is a mite-sized Chihuahua which Mrs. Hanna brought in last week. "It has the most perfect markings of any dog I've owned . . . I'm going to try and save this for the dog shows."

What kind of dogs are raised at the kennel? Well, some farmers haul wheat into town or bring in livestock, but Mrs. Hanna will bring 30-odd dogs in her station wagon for their month-old "shots," giving some idea at least of their size. The majority of dogs raised are tiny, with Pekinese, Chihuahuas and Poodles being the most popular sellers. Beagles also sell well while Cockers are not so much in demand. The much caricatured dachshund is another favorite and lately two white Eskimo Spitz gave birth to eight picture postcard pups which are almost all sold. These are described as "grand dogs, easily trained," by Mrs. Hanna. The adults came from Waterloo, Ont., and are bred down from German Husky stock.

There are a few setters and other hunting dogs on the place but most of the inmates are so small they'd just whet the appetite of any hungry coyote, which is prevented from happening by fenced-in runs and outside areas.

This dog business all started back in 1927 when Mrs. Hanna and her husband lived west of Vulcan across from what is now the Eugene McLean farm. They next moved to the "home place," presently the Jim McNiven farm and later to the present location.

In those days the raising of dogs was tied in closely with the economics of life. A dog would be sold for $8.00 and this money would buy gas for the tractor and it was through this endeavor that the family came through the depression years of the '30's better

Hens laying eggs may be affected by that age old practice of "keeping up with the Jones." A report from the Pennsylvania State University indicates that a pullet lays better if housed in a pen containing only other pullets like her in age, size and development. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Advocate:
Re: Electric Power Costs To Alberta Farmers.

The late George Mead of Vermilion, Alta., recently completed an investigation into the power situation in Alberta. Mr. Mead was the recipient of a Bank of Montreal bursary of $2,000, which sum he used to conduct the investigation. Mr. Mead was accompanied by John Adie.

The trip included the following areas: B.C., Washington, Idaho, Montana, Minnesota, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Top management of all power companies, etc., were interviewed, also many individuals, and the findings of the investigation were compiled into book form of 35 pages. A copy was made available to all R.E.A. members of the Alberta Union of R.E.A's.

As a result of the Mead report, the Alberta farmers have a right to be informed of the situation as it now exists.

For instance, the BC government will construct up to $1,200 worth of line free to farmers. In Saskatchewan, the average construction cost per farm is around $500; in Manitoba, the government will construct up to $2,000 worth of line free to farmers. In Alberta, the farmer pays the whole cost of construction and today many farmers pay in excess of $2,000 for power installation. Add to this amount 50 cents per month on your reserve charge, add to this our excess construction costs, and you find we are setting aside a substantial sum to replace our investment.

It seems a farm customer served by the power company (not REA) can obtain any size transformer at little or no extra cost, but an REA customer needing a 7½ kv transformer by reason of his 3 kv not supplying enough power, is required to deposit $115 cash for the larger transformer, also he pays an additional $2.50 per month for service charge, plus an amount of $30 per year by reason that his minimum rate of 350 k per month has been raised to minimum of 800 k per month. In other words the larger transformer costs him $115 cash plus an additional $60 per year.

Now take a look at the figures given to Mr. Mead by a farmer in Alberta served by a power company (not R.E.A.). This farmer paid the company about $400 for power installation. 3 kva transformer was installed, consumption rose to 1,000 kwh per month, no breaker trouble was experienced, load was added still through the 3 kva, the company was informed, transformer changes were made at no extra cost to the farmer, and now a 10 kva transformer is installed, and monthly consumption is around 1,500 kwh. Had this farmer been an R.E.A. customers, imagine the cost of operating a 10 kva transformer.

Why discriminate against the R.E.A. customer? Perhaps the general public does not realize the contribution the Alberta farmer has made to electrify the province to make power available to the tourist trade.

Now let us take a look at our breakers. Evidently the breakers installed on our 3 kva transformers limit the amount of power that a farmer can consume, as apparently transformer protection by breakers is unnecessary by reason that some areas visited have discarded their breakers entirely, other areas have plugged them, yet in not one instance had anyone interviewed known of a transformer burn-out.

We Alberta farmers should waken to the fact that we pay almost twice the amount that B.C. and Manitoba farmers pay for power. Read back over the above figures quoted and draw your own conclusions. The finding and figures quoted above are taken from the report of the late George Mead, and were presented at the annual convention of the Alberta Union R.E.A. at Red Deer in June, 1967. Power company officials and government officials were present and no comments were made, at least no contradictions were made.

To quote Mr. Mead: The individual farmer owns no portion of the R.E.A. line. He owns a share in the R.E.A. as a whole, therefore owning a portion of the electric utility is not an asset as such. The cash put up by the R.E.A. farmer is merely a contribution, nothing more.

Dear Homemakers:

The fourth lesson in the Family Life Series was on the teenager and his problems. Father W. O. MacCallum and Bruce Fyke opened up the evening's discussion with a dialogue on the Christian viewpoint of Family Life. An interesting film called "The Merry-Go-Round" helped to illustrate the pressures that the teenager experiences in his peer group and from the adult society around him. The buzz groups discussed the different personalities portrayed in the film and came up with various ideas to explain their behavior.

A panel discussion moderated by Mrs. Edna Clark of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Calgary finished off the evening.

The panel of five included Mr. Gorman, Champion; Mrs. Don Mallory, Kirkcaldy; Rev. Bruce Fyke, Champion; Barry Patez, Drumheller; Father W. O. MacCallum, Vulcan.

Barry, a teenager from Drumheller helped shed some light on how teens react to adults, particularly their parents.

The theme of lesson V will be "Launching One's Offspring" which will be discussed in two parts: (a) Preparation for Marriage and Parenthood, (b) Emancipation from Parental Control.

Film— "Engagement, Romance or Reality." Lesson V will be conducted in the Catholic Church Hall, Champion on Thursday, Nov. 30, at 7:30 p.m. sharp.

Bow Valley Church Marks 50 Years of Progress

The Bow Valley Church of the Brethren at Arrowwood celebrated its 50th anniversary Sunday, Nov. 19, 1967 with a worship service and open house following. Rev. Willard McDaniel of Minot, North Dakota was guest speaker. He had served the church from 1950 to 1960. The church was filled to capacity with people coming from a distance to celebrate and reminiscence over the years. Congratulations and best wishes were received and read from those too far away to attend.

Dr. Shamberger held worship services in the homes and in the East Arrowwood School, two miles east and one mile south of town on the land now owned by Leigh Williams, as early as 1913. The church was built and dedicated Oct. 21, 1917 at an approximate cost of $6,200 with all labor being donated. The original site was up on the hill where the cemetery is located. In 1925 the decision was made to move the church into the village and this moving process took about a year.

For several years the church was served by the free ministry. Among some of the early pastors who served the church were Luther Shatto, Joe Weddle, Noah Garast, John Brubaker, F. E. Pobst and the Stern brothers. The first paid pastor was Rodney Martin followed by Leo Miller, Homer Caskey, John Wieand, John Brubaker, Grace Brubaker, Gene Gnagy, Martin Krieger, Mel McCune, Willard McDaniel, Bob Winkle, H. D. Curling Interest Increases—

Checking over some of the weekly newspapers that reach the Advocate office every week, we note that Vulcan is not the only town reporting an increased interest in curling this winter.

Several towns throughout the province report bigger membership in curling clubs and greater interest this year.

Curling has felt the competition of television and other counter-attractions and membership in many curling clubs dropped off sharply in the past ten years. But it appears that the bottom was reached a couple of years ago. The curling rink was at one time the centre of activity in most towns during the winter months and although the sport may not reach the high pinnacle of popularity it enjoyed during the immediate post-war years it certainly appears to be making a comeback.

For the next 10 years Mrs. Hanna was not very active with her business-hobby and in 1955 she and her husband retired and moved to Vulcan. Subsequently her husband died in an accident and she moved back to the farm to the cold old two-storey house in which "During the winter you washed your hair and went to bed with it damp to find it frozen by morning." Her new home was built in 1960 and four years ago, with about 25 dogs at the farm, Mrs. Hanna joined the Canadian Kennel Club and slowly developed her breeding stock in various lines. The ancestry and lineage of the dogs is kept and registered and is as complicated as that of bulls or thoroughbred horses and as in any business, the bookwork is terrific.

To tour the kennels with the owner is an experience. For one thing the dogs know, as your car approaches down the road, whether you're friend or foe (which has its disadvantages when any of the three girls are trying to steal home late at night from a date) and the din in the driveway is at first, almost embarrassing. Even with this welcome, though, poultry thieves have been known to visit the farm. The dogs are told, as young children are, to mind their manners and all is quiet and friendly. In most cases dogs of the same breed appear too similar to the visitor to differentiate between but to those on the farm every pup is immediately recognized and each has a name of its own. A few minutes of this name calling and you wonder if there are other humans around you haven't been introduced to.

Except during the mating period and with a few exceptions all dogs are allowed out to run together in the fenced area. Mrs. Hanna will tell you that the dogs are warned if there is any fighting, the offender will be sent back to its pen. And the dogs understand.

As does happen in the canine world occasionally there is some unsolicited "fraternizing" and this has resulted in at least one litter of cross breeding between Cockers and Poodles. The farm "handle" for these comic looking and popular dogs is Cocker-poo's. They are not registered but because of their breeding, are hardier than the purebreds.

Building a stock of dogs involves much patience, time and a heavy financial investment. Pekes bought for breeding stock average $100 to $125 in cost and the offspring may sell for approximately half this amount. Pekes have litters of four or five young and may produce three litters each year. Many of these are sold before they have their eyes open 10 days following birth. Generally the dogs are kept at the kennels for a month and a half to get them beyond their most delicate stage and see that they are vaccinated. Disease is always a constant threat as distemper and hepatitis can wipe out a kennel quickly.

When you think of the damage a litter of growing Saint Bernards would do to the food bill, these small house dogs have another point in their favor. Although Mrs. Hanna dispenses with 500 pounds of dog meal and eight cases of Perky each month, considering the number involved, these are not the full blown eaters that most people picture.

An expensive experiment, and not yet proven, was the acquisition by Dora of a German species known as Schnauzer (pronounced Shnowzers). These are grey dogs about 14 inches in height, and although trimmed for the sake of cleanliness, as are all of the dogs, they just look different and seem to glide along the ground at a constant speed in search of something, unmindful of their surroundings. At $500 a pair these fascinating dogs are being minded very carefully and hopefully by their mistress.

The old business axiom about not taking your work home with you certainly doesn't apply at Marganna Kennels. Inside the back door of the farm house a Peke passes you on its way downstairs while at the kitchen landing two more greet you and others are comfortably scattered throughout the house. But there's no fuss, they don't seem to get stepped on and the only signs of upset in the house is that of humans as busy as those on any other farm home. It is presumed the dogs are all house broken.

Really, they don't treat you quite fairly at Marganna Kennels. You can go there out of curiosity only to see what a dog kennel is all about, completely detached from any thought of personal involvement. There is no particular sales pitch but the more you see the deeper you become involved and chances are you'll come away attached to pug-nosed Peke or a brown-eyed Beagle.

PLAYFUL PUPS. Life is exciting, sometimes noisy and always different at Marganna Kennels and some of the young pups that make it so, are pictured above with Margaret Hanna, Joan and Dora. Behind them is a portion of the new kennel built last summer.

TWO FAVORITES. One of the most popular breeds of dogs at Marganna Kennels is the Pekinese, two of whom shown above with Margaret Hanna. They make ideal house dogs and the offsprings are often sold before they are born.

New Treasury Branch Opens Friday

The new Treasury Branch building in Vulcan will be officially opened this Friday, Dec. 1, at 3:00 p.m., when the ribbon-cutting ceremony will be performed by the Hon. Ray Speaker, Minister Without Portfolio.

Other officials taking part in the ceremony will be Mayor C. G. Ness of Vulcan, C. G. Davey, Superintendent of Treasury Branches and M. Moroz, also of the Treasury Branches head office in Edmonton, Allan McAskile, president of the Vulcan Chamber of Commerce, and Wally Taylor, manager of the Vulcan Treasury Branch.

The general public is invited to attend the official opening, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. Light refreshments will be served, dime savers will be given to the children and two lucky guests will qualify for prizes of gift savings pass books showing credit balances of $15 and $10.

The 30 x 98 ft. building, attractively finished in chocolate brown brick and beige slate, was completed this month at a cost of $79,800. Contractor was Jason Construction Ltd. A small parking area adjacent to the building is shielded from the street by a white brick fence.

The new building was erected on the site of the old Treasury Branch, on Centre Street next to the Vulcan Clinic. During construction, the Treasury Branch has occupied the former Fashionette building next to Wolfe's Hardware.

Smoking In Bed Very Dangerous

(By A. E. Bridges, Alberta Fire Commissioner)

"Fire department antics make interesting reading" says Stan Reid, the Central Alberta reporter for the Edmonton Journal. He was referring to the Red Deer Fire Department which responded to a house fire — extinguished it while the man who caused it slept on blissfully. It was a case of fast work by the fire department.

Burning up beds is a common affair. There are hundreds of bed fires in Alberta each year. It's not so much man's desire to keep warm in bed as it is to have those last few puffs in complete comfort and relaxation. Too often it works out badly and it makes an awful mess of the bed and frequently raises the most unsightly blisters. People who cause fires don't always live to see the mess so there is very little actual experience to pass on to others — nothing left but heresay evidence which is most times not credited.

Man is fairly ingenious so he should be able to figure out a less painful way to smoke in bed — for instance why not set up the bed in the swimming pool. Just have a rubber pillow high enough to keep his head out of the water — a floating ash tray and he would be well protected. As he falls asleep his hand drops in the water — the cigarette is dunked and we could guarantee no fiery awakening. Of course, the subject might drown but after all isn't it enough to be sure we can claim this would save a man from death by fire. And remember a person just can't expect all fire departments to be as fast as Red Deer's fire department.

Fourteen rinks participated in a Jackpot bonspiel in Champion last weekend. Neal Dumka of Vulcan won over John Wolfe in the "A" section. Robert Kananen skipped the High School entry and won over Smokey Jones of Lomond to win the "B" section.

CHAMPION HOME & SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The local Home and School Association held it's regular meeting on Nov. 20 with President Arvilla Pitcher in the chair. A small number of parents were in attendance.

Mrs. Lorraine Hagg will attend the convention in Edmonton as a delegate.

A discussion was held re-voting in favor of kindergartens or not, and it was decided this should be left to the discretion of the delegate after hearing the pros and cons at the convention. The setting up of educational TV in the County was also discussed.

A bake sale is to be held as a fund-raising project after the school Christmas concert on December 18th.

The meeting was then turned over to Principal R. Brown who expressed his desire for an annual award to be presented to the most outstanding student of the Junior High School. It would be an award for endeavour rather than athletic or academic ability. Mr. Brown said it would be a chance for the average student to win recognition. All too often, there is a real lack of recognition of a student's individualism.

Mr. Brown explained that the local school had a program involving the older students who were prepared to help organize and referee if necessary games for the younger students on inclement days. If such students were willing to donate their efforts, they should be given some form of recognition.

Other factors taken into consideration would be the student's involvement with the Student's Union, work on the year book, extra-curricular activities such as Scouts or Guides, etc., and church work.

Mr. Brown felt it would be appropriate for the Home and School Association to donate the award rather than the Student's Union. The winner would be decided by a committee formed from representatives of the teaching staff, the Home and School Association and the community at large.

A discussion was held whether some form of recognition should be awarded to all grade levels such as the student who has shown the greatest improvement during the year.

A committee consisting of Principal, R. Brown, Arvilla Pitcher, Edith Griffin, Howard Hagg and headed by George Ellis was formed to investigate the setting up of an award system and will discuss their findings at the January meeting.

Grade four won the $5 prize for having the most parents in attendance.

Lunch was served by Jean Jordan and Alice Hummel following the meeting.

WHAT'S THE BEST SEEDING RATE

In the latest issue of a farm information release research from Swift Current has proven that ½ bushel per acre seeding rate for wheat is the best. The test tried rates of seeding from 1½ bushels per acre down to ½ bushel per acre. The yields increased as the rate of seeding was decreased. The differences in the yield were very slight in years of normal precipitation but when a dry year occurred the low rates of seeding yield was 50% more than the yield of the 1½ bushel seeding rate.

If you farm in the Brown Soil Zone, there is enough to be gained from this to try one strip next spring with different seeding rates.

The only disadvantages that I am aware of is the problem which could occur with insects and weeds and the fact that the crop will be 3-5 days later maturing.

LIVESTOCK OUTLOOK

The fall issue of the Alberta Farm Economist features short articles on Livestock Outlook and the General Economy. These two sections give a number of suggestions of what likely will happen to farmers in the next year. They even have a few ideas on avoiding some of the not-so-nice predictions. It's sometimes difficult to assess the value of predictions and trends that are contained in this report. For this reason many farmers don't bother to read this type of report. The way I look at it is that if you're the only farmer to read this particular publication you're one up on everyone. However, if you're the only one who hasn't read this publication everyone else may be one up on you. Copies are available or if you wish we can put your name on the permanent mailing list.

HEIFER VACCINATION

I was just talking with Vern, the Agricultural Fieldman and he mentioned that they will start the first week in December on their vaccination tour. If you've not contacted Mr. Jordan and you still want some of your heifers vaccinated, you'd better phone or write before this weekend, Dec. 1.

COME AND GET 'ER. If you dream back a few months you'll remember this shirt-sleeve day late in May when the Centennial Caravan came to town and everyone ended a happy day with a street barbecue. Recognizable in the photo are Jerry Wylie, Allan McAskile, Brian Todd, Cal Rutberg and Milo Lion Gary Brooks.

Fisher-Binning Wedding Held At Lethbridge

Baskets of gladiolus and mums graced the altar of the McKillop United Church, Lethbridge when double ring vows were exchanged between Diane Elaine Binning and Gary Wayne Fisher.

Rev. Brian Jones officiated at the afternoon ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Binning of Carmangay and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Fisher of Vulcan. Miss Ruggles was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a walking-length white sheath with an over dress of white and silver lace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and gladiolus. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a cluster of organza with pearls and crystals.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Karen Fisher and Misses Laurie and Norma Binning as flower girls, nieces of the bride. All three wore identical dresses of Royal brocade, their bouquets were miniature replicas of the bride's.

Attending the groom was Robert Fisher as best man and Darcey Fisher as ring bearer.

Reception for the families was held at the El Rancho. The table was beautifully decorated with a three tiered wedding cake.

Their honeymoon was spent at Waterton Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have taken up residence in Calgary.

The local association held a meeting Monday, Nev. 13 in the United Church. There was a good turnout of members and Guiders. Routine Business was covered. Patti Lloyd and Karen Williams gave very interesting reports on the Centennial Camp they attended this past summer in Ontario. They also showed the ladies displays of souvenirs from the camp. The president, Mary Block, thanked the girls for their program. While the meeting continued the girls who are former Rangers served the lunch. The next meeting will be held the second Monday in January.

On Tuesday, Nov. 14 Commissioner Ella Hayes visited the Brownie Pack and enrolled the following Tweenies: Debbie Culp, Marcy Culp, Donna Berg, Lisa Frantz, Jolene Gartner, Cathie Nelson and Brenda Tharle. Suzanne L'Ecuyer was ill and will be enrolled next week. Alice Dunn, Pat Dunn, Kathie Laycraft and Debbie Block were presented with Golden Hand Badges. Pat and Alice are moving to Calgary and we wish them well when they join a Pack and Company in the city.

On Tuesday evening, Kathie Laycraft, Alice Dunn and Debbie Block 'Flew Up' to the Guide company. At the same meeting Commissioner Hayes enrolled Mrs. Joyce Jones as the Brown Owl Guider. Mrs. Mary Wagner, who was a former Girl Guide repeated her 'Promise' and was installed as the Tawny Owl. Some of the Brownies also came to the meeting and gave their members the 'Grand Howl.' After a sing-song the Brownies went home and the Guides with their leaders, Captain Bev Barr, Lieutenant Maureen Laing and acting Lieutenant Patti Lloyd held their meeting.

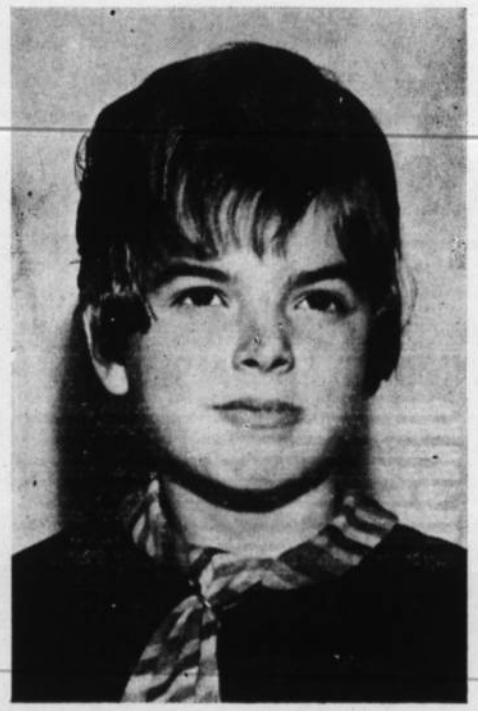
Proudly introducing
Another Alberta Junior Citizen of the Centennial Year!



JONI BREWSTER, Bowden

Joni Brewster was still in Grade One when she was struck with vaccination encephalitis. Instead of giving up, the courageous youngster relearned the normal skills she had lost — speaking, walking, writing. Today, 10-year-old Joni pushes her wheelchair at school, using it for support instead of sitting in it. Despite her handicap, her happy outlook on life sets a fine example to all those around her.

We congratulate Joni Brewster and thank Alberta's Weekly Newspaper Editors for their active participation in the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year program, sponsored by Alberta's investor-owned electric utility companies.

This is one of a series of Junior Citizen Award announcements. Our special thanks to Hap Clarke, Editor of the Innisfail Province and to Joni's nominator, Mrs. Nick Finchuk of Bowden.

NEW CLOVERLEAF. Taken during the summer, the above photo shows the first stage of construction of the cloverleaf, now nearing completion, at the highway junction east of High River. Vulcan and district travellers have noted its progress on trips to Calgary or into the hills and crews have been working around the clock during much of the construction. At present, using the junction is something of a nightmare, especially after dark when special care must be taken of detour signs and the crossing now of two lanes of traffic for those going into High River. However this is a necessary hazard and the end results should give a much safer, faster traffic interchange.

BLACKIE

The Ladies Curling Club opened the season Saturday, Nov. 25 with a neighborhood Bonspiel. Seven rinks took part. First event winners were Vivian Westersund, Jean Hansen, Kay Hencherow, Florence Duguay over Margaret Montgomery, Joey Bateman, Ann Wooldridge and Linda Egeland. Second event winners were Bertha Raycraft, Karen Suitor, Eileen Egeland, Grace Tucker over Dorothy Paul, Marilyn Groeneveld, Helen Spangler and Dorothy Jackson. The ladies enjoyed a pot luck dinner and supper and invited the new curlers to join the club.

Blackie was host to the United Nations Zone 2 committee meeting Saturday evening. Over 40 attended from Vulcan, Blackie, Cayley, High River, Nanton and Milo. Mrs. L. Frey of High River was elected the new chairman and Mrs. J. Webb the new secretary-treasurer. The finals for the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth speaking contest are to be held in Nanton, March 2nd.

UNITED CHURCH FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Well over 175 persons attended the 40th United Church Service Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Former ministers taking part were: Rev. S. R. Hunt, Calgary, Blackie Supply Minister 1960-61; Rev. William Morrison, Medicine Hat, Blackie Minister 1931-41; Rev. W. J. Huston, Camrose, Blackie minister 1941-43; Rev. Dr. S. Scott, Edmonton, Blackie minister 1947-54; Rev. C. A. Warren, Turner Valley, Blackie minister 1943-47 and F. K. Malcolm, present minister.

A number were present who had attended the church opening 40 years ago. Mrs. Wellman, who sang the first solo at the Blackie Church and Howard McRobbie, the first baby baptized were also present.

Following the pot luck supper in the church basement, greetings were brought from the visiting ministers as well as Mrs. Knight, Calgary and Howard McRobbie, Red Deer.

Out-of-town guests were from Camrose, Calgary, Red Deer, Medicine Hat, Turner Valley, Edmonton and High River.

DISTRICT NEWS

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS

While away Miss Peggy McDougal is staying with Miss Joan Groeneveld and little Bonnie Thurber was their guest for a while and spent the rest of the time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thurber.

Jerry Bauer, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Herb McWilliam will be undergoing serious eye surgery this week in the Calgary Children's Hospital.

Barry Bricker and Ray Seney returned from their trip to the Wyoming country last week and reported a wonderful educational trip except for running into a storm at Great Falls on the way home and very icy roads to the border. Their highlight of the trip was getting on a three-tiered freeway in the heart of Denver and when finally getting off it found themselves on a six-lane one-way with slow outside traffic going 65 miles an hour.

Congratulations to Mrs. William Groeneveld who was presented with the Charles Crowhurst trophy for most points at the High River Flower Show at the High River Horticultural meeting on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Percival accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meadows attended Blackie Home and School convention last week

Miss Linda Bird from Edmonton University accompanied by a friend were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Bird for the weekend.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Gordon Laycraft who has undergone surgery in the Foothills Hospital.

Mrs. Chas Meadows returned home from the hospital last week but is still not feeling too well. Others convalescing in the district include Ed Groeneveld, Clarence Laycraft and Herb McWilliam who are all progressing very well.

The district is pleased to hear that Mrs. Stan Gillianders will have her cast removed this week.

Lloyd Groeneveld who is down east and helping with the showing and care of the cattle the McGilvary's of Lethbridge entered in the Toronto Royal Winter Fair was very pleased when they were awarded a number of ribbons in their different classes.

Some people have two ideas about a secret. Either it's not worth keeping, or it's too good to keep.

As the ladies gathered for the afternoon, they were asked to write out a favorite recipe and put their name on a clothespin which were later presented to Lois in a handy clothes-pin bag.

After several contests, Lois was assisted in opening her gifts by her grandmother, Mrs. Sep Washburn, her mother, Mrs. Harry Washburn and a cousin Mrs. Larry Washburn. Lois graciously thanked the ladies for the shower and the lovely gifts after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

ON THEIR 25TH. It was probably the intention of Hugh (Squint) and Vivian Hanna to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary quite calmly and it was also probably not their intention to wind up as new material for this paper. However their friends who gathered on Nov. 21, to help them celebrate, had other ideas which when put into action, produced the above results. Likely the only one of the gathering in a sensible frame of mind was young Larry who seemed content to put up with the older generation's foolishness.

Brenton Nickerson Married At Candlelight Ceremony

A candlelight wedding was solemnized in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Calgary, at seven o'clock on Saturday, Oct. 14, 1967, when Valerie Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. North, became the bride of Brenton Wilfred Nickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Nickerson of Red Deer, formerly of Vulcan. The church was beautifully decorated with candelabra arranged with fern and complemented by red and white mums and white pew bows. Rev. Peter A. Niblock officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The wedding guests sang "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven" as the bridal party proceeded to the chancel. As a prelude and during the signing of the register ,the organist, Mr. H. H. Walton played appropriate wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a regal floor-length gown of French matte lace featuring a high neckline and short sleeves embroidered with seed pearls, ivory shells and crystals. Her chapel veil fell from a headpiece trimmed with pearls and crystals to match the gown. She carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Allison North, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and bridesmaid, Miss Elaine Moore, cousin of the groom, were lovely in identical gowns of royal blue velvet which were of the same design as the bride's gown. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and red sweetheart roses.

Cecil Nickerson, brother of the groom, was best man, while ushering duties were shared by Wade North, brother of the bride and Vincent Yung.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. North chose a powder blue ribbon ensemble and a turban of matching tulle. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. Nickerson wore an ensemble of green and gold brocade with matching feather hat and gold sweetheart roses.

A reception was held at the Highlander Motor Hotel. The wedding cake, set in a bed of tulle and red roses was graced by a cascade of white fiji mums and red sweetheart roses. During the evening, the bride and groom served each guest a piece of their cake. The bride's godfather, Frank Winters of Indus, proposed the toast to the bride. The toast to the bridesmaids was given by Gwyn Morgan.

For her going away ensemble the bride chose a white wool suit delicately trimmed with rose and green embroidery work on the collar and buttons. She wore a matching green hat and accessories. Her only jewelry was a Cameo necklace, a gift of the groom.

Following a trip to the West Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson have taken up residence in Edmonton. Mr. Nickerson holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering from the University of Alberta.

Have you ever wondered...

...where medical aid would come from if your community should suffer a disaster?

Disasters can range from a nuclear attack to a multi-car highway accident, from a flood to an industrial explosion, but all have one thing in common: the immediate and vital need for medical supplies and equipment. To make sure that the required equipment and personnel are on hand when needed is the responsibility of the Emergency Health Services of the Alberta Department of Health. Twenty two-hundred bed emergency hospitals, packaged and ready to be transported and erected wherever needed, are being strategically stored in the province by this agency. These units are designed to replace bed and medical facilities which might be destroyed in a nuclear attack, and to supplement inadequate local facilities in the event of major civil disaster. Advanced Treatment Centres are also maintained by the Emergency Health Services to provide first life-saving techniques and patient-sorting following a nuclear attack. Each large city hospital has disaster teams which would assist local medical personnel if required during a large disaster outside Calgary and Edmonton. To further supplement emergency equipment available locally, twenty Casualty Collecting Units have been divided into thirds, providing 60 municipalities throughout the province with stretchers, blankets, first aid supplies, burn dressings and water bottles. The distribution and use of all this equipment, which is supplied by the federal government, is controlled by the Emergency Health Services, working with the Alberta Emergency Measures Organization.

...what type of recreation program would be best for your community?

There's no need to wonder about it; many specific answers are available through a Recreation Interests Inventory. The Recreation Branch of the Alberta Department of Youth, through the area consultants can provide guidance and assistance in this inventory. Any interested community can request that an inventory be carried out in their area and the Branch may assist in developing the questionnaires and in supplying the personnel to co-ordinate the project and to evaluate the answers, at the cost to the community of materials only. To further aid in setting up a comprehensive recreation service, the Branch assists in surveying the physical facilities available; (i.e. schools, community centres, campgrounds, sport fields, playgrounds) as well as present programs. The final evaluation of the complete findings of the assessment is submitted to the local Recreation authority for their decision. The Recreation authority then may request further advice and, if necessary, financial assistance from the Recreation Branch.

...where an Alberta manufacturer can obtain the financial assistance required to buy the materials he needs at the most advantageous time and in the most economical quantity?

Qualified Alberta manufacturing firms, unable to obtain sufficient financial assistance from other sources, can apply to the Alberta Commercial Corporation for the funds they need to build up inventories of raw materials or standard components parts. The Corporation will purchase the material in quantity, arrange for storage and release it for cash payment as it is required. Funds are also made available to qualified manufacturers who require production equipment or land and buildings to enlarge their facilities. Firms applying for assistance from the Alberta Commercial Corporation also receive expert guidance and direction to those government agencies which can best advise them on such matters as markets and natural resources.

...how, today, fewer farms are producing more food?

Partly because, today, the principles of engineering are being applied to the practice of agriculture. Alberta farmers have the assistance of trained agricultural engineers in producing the largest quantity of food with the least number of man hours. Working through the offices of District Agriculturists the Agricultural Engineering Branch of the Extension and Colleges Division, Alberta Department of Agriculture, offers help in such forms as plans for livestock buildings; advice on installation of private water systems and water treatment plants, sewage disposal and electrical installations, drainage of farm lands, gully filling and conservation. They aid in planning new farmsteads for maximum mechanization to reduce time and work in operations like feed handling, manure disposal and bulk storage of fertilizer. Tractor maintenance schools and field days held by the Branch also help teach those engineering ideas which have played a major role in making agriculture one of Alberta's most efficient industries.

...who provides "bed and board" for Alberta's entries at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto?

Alberta's animal representatives at the "Royal" live in style and comfort from the moment they become part of the province's display until they return home again, with feed and bedding provided by the Alberta Department of Agriculture. In addition, the Department co-ordinates with the Breed Association, the selection of animals to be entered, arranges with the railway for rolling stock, outfits the cars, correlates loading times and locations and pays freight costs, 75 per cent of which are reimbursed by the federal government. The province supplies assistance to exhibitors for this occasion because this is the only agricultural fair in Canada considered to be national in scope.

...why all Alberta movies are classified?

Classification of motion pictures shown in Alberta is a method of advising moviegoers throughout the province as to what kind of entertainment they can expect when they "go to the show". Advertising for any movie must bear the classification which has been assigned to it by the provincial Board of Censors so that everyone will be aware of the type of picture it is. There are three classifications: "Family" — movies to which even the youngest children are admitted unaccompanied. "Adult" — restricts admission to people over age 16 unless accompanied by a parent or bona fide guardian, usually due to frightening, violent or sexual themes. Such films may be seen by children but an adult must be available to provide explanations if they are required. "Restricted Adult" — allows admission only to theatre-goers over age 18. This classification allows films with controversial themes to be seen by adults and warns patrons with special sensitivities that the subject matter may offend them. "Restricted Adult" films are not permitted at drive-in theatres.
